NO SMOTHERING.

THE EVENING WORLD Children's Bill, having passed the Assembly by a decisive vote, is now in the hands of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

It is the object of the opponents of the measure to effect its defeat by a process of strangulation. If it is not reported from the Committee it cannot, of course, be placed on the Senate Calender to be voted upon.

To avoid a report all the energies of the Bureaucrats are being bent.

To the members of the Committee we would say that it would be manifestly unjust and contrary to the public interest to smother a measure so humane, conservative and popular as the Children's Bill.

The principle involved in the measure is a vital one and affects the homes of the people. The right of appeal is sacred and should be denied to none.

All the hopes of its defeat by its few Bureaucratic opponents are centred in staying off a square vote upon it. They realize that, as in the Assembly, it probably would by its intrinsic merit command a large majority in

BROOMS AND BACHELORS.

From far-off Duluth comes tidings presag- Paris is a very fast town. ing dark days for single gentlemen. In that town, made famous by PROCTOR KNOTT, there is a broom factory. The edict has been issued by the owners thereof that all men employed therein must be married by the 1st of June or lose their jobs. All who shall become Benedicts ere the coming of that time will have their wages increased.

In the absence of definite information regarding the causes leading up to this remarkable ukase, one can only speculate upon its meaning. Is there a surplus of belated sisters, cousins and aunts for whom a market must be made? Is it a delicate scheme to beom the town by increasing population? Or is this but another evidence of the tendency among manufacturers to bring about combines?"

But hold! Is it for the purpose of en larging the home market for brooms. Matrimony-then brooms, of course? A brilliant conception. What is home without brooms, and what would some homes be without broomsticks?

This Duluth scheme is great. PROCTOR Knorr's wildest eulogies fall flat beside it.

ONE OUTRAGE BEGETS ANOTHER.

That the arrest, imprisonment and fining of Mrs. Annie Finn on a charge of intoxication was an outrage still seems probable from the evidence, despite the attempt to whitewash the policeman concerned. That there has been no adequate investigation of Mrs. Finn's charge is bad enough, but to have it supplemented by an unmistakable outrage upon her husband because he dares to attempt her vindication is the height of atrocity and satrapic insolence.

Mr. Finn no sooner makes known his intention to defend the reputation of his wife than he is arrested upon a two-year-old charge which has never been prosecuted. The complainant desired to withdraw the charge, but is not allowed to do so. The accused policeman's friends have unscrupulously used this old charge as a club to defend their favorite.

Such scandalous conduct calls loudly for investigation by the Police Commissioners. And, if the Commissioners do not take action at once, it is Mayor GRANT's duty to order them to do so.

NO APPOINTMENTS TO-DAY.

TAMMANY IS JUBILANT ABOUT THE NEW POLICE JUSTICES.

Gov. Hill's action in vetoing the dual-headed Commission deal bills left Mayor Grant free to make his appointments to succeed Police Com-missioner French and Park Commissioner Bor-

These, with the Dock and Charities Commissioners, the Corporation Counsel and the four police magistrates provided for by the bill which sioners, the Corporation Counsel and the four police magistrates provided for by the bill which Gov. Hill approved, are the only important appointments which the Mayor has yet to make.

The approval of the bill providing for additional police instices is halled with dolight by Tammany, is not looked on unfavorably by kepublicans, but has completely disgusted the County Democrats.

It means that Tammany Hall is to control the Board of Police Justices and the numerous very fat official berths within its gift, together with the new ones which will be necessarily created be the establishment of new Police Courts.

It further means that the Counties who have niled these offices are to be ousted and to the Republicans it eems to say that Justices Smith and Patterson, the Republican disponsers of police court justice, will be retained in office.

The offices within the gift of the Board are a Secretary to the Board at a salary of $1,000, as x cirks at $1,000, floor stenographers at $2,000 and four interpreters at $1,200.

The number of clerks will probably be increased by two, assistants by six and the stenographers and interpreters in proportion.

With the salaries of the new justices the increased expense to the city, aside from the cost of the new court-houses, will be fully $100,000 per year.

Other patronage within the gift of the Board of Police Justices is found in the Court of Special Sessions, where there is a clerk at $0,000 salary, a deputy at $5,000, a stenographer at $2,000 can interpreter and three subpocaa clerks at $2,000 cach, and an attendant at $1,500.

Of course there are any number of candidates for the new positions oversited.

And Tells a Queer Story About Inspector Williams's Investigation.

Here is a case that looks like persecution: Joseph Finn, a carpenter, of 45 Bleecker street, was arraigned before Judge Ford, in the Tombs Court this morning, on a supposed charge of grand larceny. complainant against him was William Schultz, a type finisher of 28 Centre street, who charged that on April 6, 1887, Finn gave him a mortgage for $125 on a bay horse, an express wagon, some tools and benches. The mortgage was due in sixty days, but the compininant says that a few days before it was due Finn secreted the property and refused to due Finn secreted the property and refused to pay the mortrage.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of Finn on July 6, 1887, and placed in the hands of Court Officer Walsh of the Tombs Court. This officer says he has been looking for Finn ever since the issuance of the warrant, but failed to find him. At any rate he did find him yesterday at Folice Headquarters and locked him up.

Schultz yesteriay wished to withdraw the charge, and Judge Ford discharged Finn. A few whispered words from Walsh, however, changed the Judge's decision, and Finn again went below.

Schultz's lawyer, Robert C. Racey, again announced to-pay that his client wanted to withdraw the case.

nonneed to pay that his client wanted to withdraw the case.

"I cannot allow that," said the Judge. "I understand this is a felony.

The lawyer, however, succeeded in convincing the Judge that it was only a misdemeanor, as charged, and he reluctantly gave his consent to a settlement.

Finn paid Schultz $50 and was then discharged.

Fino's arrest came about in a very queer and unusual way. That he and his wife, who was arrested on Sunday night and charged with intoxication by Policeman Kealy, have been sorely abused during the past few days cannot be denigd.

Finn has never moved his business from 45 Bleecker street since the warrant was issued. Before the warrant was issued he had a place at 29 Great Jones street, two blocks above his 29 Great Jones street, two blocks above his present shop.

It was while he was in the Great Jones shop that the mortgage was given by Finn. On May 4, a little less than a month after the issuance of the mortgage he moved to Bleecker street, taking care, however, to leave a large sign on his vacated quarters in order to notify people where he had moved.

It is evident that Court Officer Walsh did not make any great exertions to find Mr. Finn. The latter's present place of business consists of three floors, and the front of the building is covered with signs with Finn's name on them.

Why Schultz obtained the warrant no one knows. Finn declares that he has never secreted or assigned the property, but, instead, has added to it, and at present his stock and fixtures he is a second-hand lumber dealer) are worth, at the lowest calculation, $0.000.

He recently bought the fixtures in J. & C. Johnston's dry-goods store, when those people falled, a short time ago, and vaid $3,000 cash for them.

failed, a short time ago, and paid $3,000 cash for them.

Finn is deeply incensed at Inspector Williams a conduct yesterday. It will be remembered that he (Finn) preferred charges against Policeman Healy, for arresting his wife and for being drunk in McGurk's saloon, corner of Houston and Elizabeth treet, on that same night.

Supt. Murray ordered, and Inspector Williams conducted the investigation. According to Finn and his brothers it was an outrageous farce.

conducted the investigation. According to Finn and his brothers it was an outrageous farce.

Finn asserts his witnesses were abused, threatened and choked off while giving their testimout, while those of Policeman Healy and McGurk were given every chance to make points against Finn's wife.

Finn told an Evenino World reporter just what happened at the investigation. He says he was in hopes that the reporters would be admitted to hear the testimony, but the first thing the inquisitor did was to call out: "Shut that door and keep those reporters out."

Then Finn's says the Inspector said to Mrs. Finn: "Do you know that there's an officer outside waiting to arrest your husband for grand larceny?"

Nhe said she did'nt know, but he assured her that her husband would be arrested as soon as the investigation (?) was concluded.

Then Finn's witnesses were examined, he says. They were all eye-witnesses and live in the neighborhood of 240 Elizabeth street, where the arrest was made.

the neighborhood of 240 Elizabeth street, where the arrest was made.

John Kelly, one of the witnesses, said he saw the officer come down the block and smeak to Mrs. Finn. She tried to go unstairs, but Healy grabbed her and threw her against a truck.

At this voint Finn asserts the Inspector com-manded the witness to stop, but Kelly was ex-cited and went on telling what happened after that, when the Inspector got up from his chair and made him stop.

Other witnesses tratified to always the Other witnesses testified to almost the same hing. Three witnesses were refused a channel thing. Three witnesses were refused a chance to testify because, the Inspector asserted, that they knew nothing.

Then Healy testified that Finn had assaulted a girl on Great Jones street, not long ago. This Finn brands as an infamous lie on the officer's part, and demands that he produce proofs.

Finn says that he testified that he found Healy in Mediurk's saloon, drinking with dissolute women. McGurk denied this, and said he was not open and never had been open on a Sunday. McGurk was listened to very respectfully by the Inspector, so Finn says.

Finn, however, drank beer in McGurk's place on that night, and the bartender in the saloon was arrested only a short time ago on a charge of violation of the Excise law.

Finn says that all of this is true, and his brothers, John and William, bear him out. They were present.

They have not yet decided upon what steps they will take, but say the matter will not rest here. Lawyer John J. Vaust has been engaged and will find out what can be done.

City is not behind the rest of the Union, for it is estimated that in this city there are consumed daily not less than 75,000 of these somewhat indigestible dainties!

But where do they all come from 7 is a question that is frequently asked.

The majority of them are manufactured in small bakeries around town, but there are several concerns, each of which is kept going day and night, and produces from 15,000 to 25,000 pies of all sizes daily every day of the week, mounting into millions in the course of a year.

An Evening Wonlin reporter visited one of these immense pie factories this morning. It is located on Sullivan street—not a very desirable locality, it would seem, but the interior was as neat as a pin. When Senator Cullors called the Committee to order at 10 o'clock, President George B. Roberts, of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, took the witness stand. Mr. Roberts told the Committee how the Pennsylvania system had been built up around the original charter, which was for a road extending from Harrisburg to Pittsburg. What was known as the trunk line now extended from are manufactured for the accommodation of restaurant-keepers. There is every variety of pie, chief of which are apple, mince, peach, plum, lemon, cocoanut, rhubarb, pincapple and custard. Berry pies are made when berries are in season. To manufacture such an immense stock it requires not less than 20 barrels of flour, 1,200 quarts of milk, 8,000 eggs, 3,000 pounds of lard, 12 barrels or about 4,000 pounds of sugar, besides all the fruit. There is more fruit used in the composition than auxthing else, and to show how much is used it is only necessary to say that twenty barrels of apples are used every day. Although there are only about 15,000 or 20,000 of these pies sold daily the factory could, if necessity arose, produce 35,000 a day. THE PALO ALTO TROTTERS.

A Pantomime Murder Trial.

[From the Munchester (Eng.) Examiner.]
A murder case, in which the accused persons—a man and woman—are deaf and dumb, has just been concluded before the Orleans Assize Court. The woman, Henriete Savignat, was married to a shoemaker who, like herself, was bereft of faculties of speech and hearing. Her husband was considerably her senior in years, and, moreover, was of intemperate habits. Frequent quarrels took place between the couple from time to time, and these domestic quarrels were rendered more violent after the shoe-maker had discovered that his wife maker had discovered that his wife was guilty of misconduct with a man named Mathieu, who had been a companion of his in the Inatitution for the Deaf and Dumb at Orleans. One night when Savignat returned home drunk from a tavern he found his wife in the arms of Mathieu, and he feebly remonstrated with signs, but was knocked down by his rival with a mallet. While Savignst was fainting on the floor of the room Mathieu, aided by the woman, beat out the drunkard's brains and then carried the dead body down into a cellar. After having given a lying explanation to the police respecting the death of her husband, the woman eventually confessed the band, the woman eventually confessed the crime, and she and her paramour were ar-rested. At the trial the accused parties were examined by means of blackboards, on which examined by means of blackboards, of which the questions and answers were written. The pair have been sentenced to penal servitude. The woman, Savignat, has been condemned to eleven years, while her paramour, Mathieu, goes to prison for the space of six years.

There are red wood trees in California in the famous Calaveris grove, nearly four hundred feet high, and as large in the trunk probably as the monster growths of the Victoria forests, but none that we have ever heard of at all equal to the latter in height. In Africa the 'baobab' is a monster trunk, larger in circumference possibly than the tall trees of either New South Wales or California, but with no height to correspond. They are merely huge stumps, putting out limbs at the upper end. But they are nevertheless curiosities of nature's work hardly less amazing than their more famous contemporaries that sprouted together with them away back beyond history, or at least back at the furthest point of it, when the | From the Detroit Free Press.] She had just returned from Europe, and was elling about the trip to a party when an old bald head inquired:

That Big Batch of Sandwiches.

(From the Journalist.)
THE EVENING WORLD gave 1,500 sandwiches to the newsboys Thursday. Here is a praiseworthy act of charity which might be well imitated by other papers.

Time Loves a Youthful Mark.

Bessie-They say she is as pretty as a picture. Jennie-Perhaps so. But she's not as pretty as her last picture.

It Is Not a Failure.

Doctor (to patient)-I will have to take six titches in your scalp, Mr. Blossom, one or two in your nose, and I think a lavish outlay of court plaster will do the rest. But how did it happen?

Blossom-My wife and I were debating the question: Is marriage a failure. She enforced her argument that it is not with the heavilf framed motto "God Bless our Home." When I recover, I intend to take the platform in de-fense of her idea." ranged motto Got less our none.

Doctor—That is capital. You can say on the bills: "The lecture will be continuously illustrated." I will leave your nose in the proper shape for that.

Cold Consolution.

[From Texas Siftings.]
Mrs. A.—It is a burning shame that my husand was defeated when he ran for alderman. Half the people would have hailed his election with joy, Mrs. B.—Console yourself, dear neighbor, with the thought that the other half of the people are rejoicing that he was defeated.

Young Boston Wife (at meat stall)-I really on't know what to get for dinner to-day. Butcher-Why not try some of these mutton hops ? Good, healthy food; 18 cents a pound. Young Boston Wife (puts hand to forehead)-

Let me see.

Butcher—What—the chops? Here they are.
Young Boston Wife—No: I was thinking.
Butcher—About the price?
Young Boston Wife—No: I was thinking whether you ought not to have said wholesome instead of healthy.
